

Kitchen Exhaust Fan Grill Cover Installation Instructions

- 1) When unpacking the cover note that there is a small (but powerful) little magnet on the side of the handle. You can leave it there temporarily.
- 2) Remove the vent cover/grill from the ceiling by getting your fingers under the edges on opposite sides and pull down.
- 3) Place the cover onto the exterior side of the grill and move the magnet from the side of the handle to the center of the back/interior side of the grill. The magnetic attraction should snap it into place.
- 4) Make a small mark on the cover and on the grill so that you can place them in the same orientation later. This step is not absolutely required, but the magnet positions itself off center so for maximum grip the placement should be kept the same. The difference is slight. I am not really sure if it is important or not.
- 5) Take a piece of Duct Tape (or similar) and secure the magnet in place
- 6) Push the grill and cover up into place. You should hear a little click or snap as it fastens back into place.
- 7) To use the fan just turn the cover over and stick it back up. It will probably not travel very well in that position. It needs to be snugged up to the grill.

Contact me if you have questions or problems rvtraveler@wybatap.com by email or

@Bob Roos on facebook

<https://www.facebook.com/groups/2254528358/user/100000268810250>